Train for a Career You Can Smile About

Help everyone's smile look like a million bucks. The Dental Assisting diploma program at IMBC can equip you with the skills you need to play an important role in any dental office. Combining classroom sessions with hands-on learning in our lab, you'll get both practice and theory performing a wide variety of tasks to aid dentists, orthodontists and hygienists.

- Program Length: About 1 Year
- Program Type: Diploma
- Format: On-Campus
- Total Clock Hours: 1020

In this program, you will become proficient in laboratory skills and prepare for the Pennsylvania Dental Radiology Exam, as well as the Nationally Registered Dental Assistant (NRDA) credential and the Radiation Health and Safety (RHS) exam.

Do Dental Assistants work with patients?

Yes, as a Dental Assistant, you'll be working with patients every day. You'll also likely work with dentists, dental hygienists, and other members of a dental practice.

How long is the Dental Assistant diploma program?

Most students will finish the Dental Assistant diploma program in under a year. However, your actual time will vary depending on your academic progress, success, the number of courses you take, and other factors.

What is the internship for the Dental Assistant training program?

Toward the completion of your program, all students will participate in an internship that lets you practice your new skills in a real dental setting with professional supervision. Before beginning an internship, you will be required to provide proof that all of your immunizations are current.
