Institute of Medical Careers Forms Articulation Agreement
For High School Students attending Forbes Road East CTC

The Institute of Medical Careers, located at 133 Jefferson Road in Penn Hills has entered into an articulation agreement with Forbes Road East CTC in Monroeville. High school students that attend the Forbes Road East CTC can be earning college level credits to continue their education at the Institute of Medical Careers in a number of different Allied Health programs on the post-secondary level.

The Institute of Medical Careers is a licensed and nationally accredited career college that offers programs in:
- Medical Assisting
- Medical Billing and Coding
- Phlebotomy
- Massage Therapy/Myofascial Trigger Point Therapy
- Dental Assisting

Forbes Road East CTC partners with nine local school districts to provide career and vocational training for high school students. The nine School Districts include East Allegheny School District, Allegheny Valley School District, Gateway School District, Highlands School District, Penn Hills School District, Plum School District, Riverview School District, Wilkinsburg School District and Woodland Hills School District. The Institute of Medical Careers is proud to partner with Forbes Road East CTC and the nine school districts they service. High school students will have the opportunity to transfer credits earned toward their Allied Health Career programs offered at the Institute of Medical Careers.